

THE TRUTH

I am getting older. And, although I feel my speed is still almost the same as when I was younger, the fact is one day I will no longer be here. My dedicated students will be responsible to carry on the preservation of the styles I have learned. I have dedicated myself in keeping the styles pure and without change unlike other systems of martial arts today. It is essential that these systems stay TRUE to the way they were taught to me and many others before me.

Being true to the systems of martial arts has been as important to me as being true to my students. For as long as I can remember, I have never lied to my students. The truth has always been my code. This is because, I want my students to trust me and to trust that the skills I teach them will improve their martial arts but also help them get through difficult circumstances in their lives.

Yes, in my life story Taoist Lovemaking Secrets, I said Master Hsu Hong Chi taught me everything in regards to Taoist Lovemaking. The truth is, he didn't. The true name of who taught me is mentioned in my life story. I did this to protect his name as he asked me to for a special reason. He gave me permission to write this book of my life story so that the knowledge would never be lost. Since Master Hsu had died, I thought to use his name and give him the credit. I have tried my best to live up to my teacher's expectation and am looking for a student to take my place in this beautiful art.

Throughout my life, I trained hard and of course gained some enemies. One of my own school brothers was jealous and even challenged me a few times, but never showed up. He also has lied to his students about me because of his jealousy. Many martial art websites have people who have talked badly about me because they do not know me or have been misinformed of my qualification, skills, and honesty. Even through all the lies surrounding me, I have stayed true to what I believe is most important, which is to keep the systems of martial arts that I've learned and taught pure and true.

Throughout my life, I have done everything that I could to preserve the lineage and purity of the styles I was taught. Because of the love I have for my Masters, I promised them I would do my best to preserve their art and spread it throughout the world and I am doing that. The question is, how did they all know I would do as they asked? Of all the masters I have learn from, I was their last student except Master Haumea F. Lefite. Many students joined after I did in 1968 until his death in 1974.

There are many Kung-Fu teachers and martial artists who have been dishonest about their qualifications and knowledge as they write books and produce videos that are replicas of mine or previous teachers.

However, I refuse to be like them. I refuse to allow the systems to be changed in order to make a few extra bucks. My focus is martial arts and how to keep it pure for the next generations to come.

On May 11, 2018 Oprah Winfrey was a guest speaker for USC graduates; part of her topic was to tell THE TRUTH. Parts of what she said influenced me to write this topic in my newsletter as it is something I have always believed in.

“Here is what you have to do, you make the choice every single day, every single day to exemplify honesty because the truth...let me tell you something about the truth, the truth exonerates and it convicts, it disinfects, and it galvanizes, the truth has always been and will always be our shield against corruption, our shield against grief and despair. The truth is our saving grace...you’re here not only to tell it, to write, to proclaim it, to speak it, but to be it...be the truth! Be the truth!”

I feel everyone could learn a great deal from her statement. Truth is what will always be our saving grace. Stay true to yourself and to the things you are most passionate about.

Sincerely,

Sifu McNeil
